JANOU, FAMOUS EXPLORER OF PLACE HE CAN'T GET OUT OF, DOES IT AGAIN!

He's A Wanderer! Here is Janou, impatiently waiting to be allowed outside to check up on the neighborhood.

JANOU HAS BEEN FOUND!!!

Turns out he's an extreme basementist. This from Janou's caretaker, Mary S.:

"Thank you SO much for reaching out to me and helping get the word out. We found her tonight. She was in a neighbors basement scared and hiding. They found her when they got home."

JANOUIII! You gotta stay out of these basements, understand. More:

"He is home safe now, ate 2+ cans of cat food and is curled up in bed. Stressful, but grateful. I truly appreciate your efforts."

Yay! This is called another win for the tiny town times Animal Rescue Unit (ttt.ARU!). Two weeks in a row we posted lost cat items: Both cats were FOUND!

That's a furball in our cap, the way we keep our stats.

So happy for Mary and Joe, who care for Janou. Sorry I referred to him in the feminine in our announcements. But hey, Janou, that's French and it sounds girlie.
