

Pictured Above: This year's Labyrinth Challenge ... Extreme Labyrinthians, this one's a toughie. Find your way from the only entry point in the crystal structure of the aminoglycoside resistance methytransferase NpmA and exit through the symmetrical portal -- watch out for the binding to the 30S ribosomal unit and beware of any false symmetry. We expect to lose a few folks there. Get psyched to get nano! And bring your special glass thread.

ARIADNE'S THREAT

Ariadne, mama
Where's that thread
You let me use that time
I got lost in the corn maize
And couldn't solve the riddle
About the Minotaur and damn Nearly got trampled by a 8-point buck was lost in there with me ...
Wasn't for that thread ...
Where is that thread? I spooled it up all nice in an egg shape on a piece of bamboo rod
I think I left it in the shop
You seen it? It ain't in this drawer with the keys, the mini vacuum cleaner bags and that ball of rubber bands and these twist ties and what's this? Instructions on how to assemble --

Honey we don't even have that appliance any more Where's the thread, Ariadne, baby?

In Celebration of Labyrinth Day, May 3, 2014, spoken word improv ...

Written by Administrator

Friday, 02 May 2014 14:10 - Last Updated Friday, 02 May 2014 14:27

I hear this year's labyrinth is a killer
You know I tried that trick that one time, Just put my right hand on the wall and figured if I went all around the inside with my hand touching the wall and then the wall split? i mean it, branched-off -- !
and I had to make like, uhh, I had to make an "intellectual decision" about what was right and left?
Remember? I lost my instinctual sense, you know
I ain't good and failed that survivor's orienteering course ...
And in the dripping dark -- that goddamn Spanish guy with the bull's head come breathing up on me all in a big sweat sniffing around and --

Hey, where were you that night anyway, I mean, after I got back?

Ariadne, I don't wanna ask again honey child,
I am not an angry man, you know me
Just give me a hint -- look, I'll use fishing line, I ain't proud, I don't need spun gold or blood red
... I just

I just wanna make sure I got it cut to length okay, baby?

C'mon now, you don't wanna see get your boy lost like that Other time, do you? That was embarrassing for the whole Extreme Labyrinth Men's Ensemble ...
Or do you?
I know you know where it is ... Don't leave me like this,
Don't leave me wondering if you'll gimme a little piece just before the competition starts.
Ariadne, baby, please ... I'm asking you nice now ...

Don't tell me you used it for that silly yarn-bombing event ... don't you tell me that ...

In Celebration of Labyrinth Day, May 3, 2014, spoken word improv ...

Written by Administrator

Friday, 02 May 2014 14:10 - Last Updated Friday, 02 May 2014 14:27
